

Painful Operations

Perhaps nothing keeps a person from the dentist so much as the dread of being hurt. But in these days of improvements, this dread is greater than the real suffering.

If before filling a tooth it is found very sensitive, this may be removed by simply curing the inflammation which causes it. We try to avoid suffering. Our advice costs you nothing.

A BIG BILL.

Some people are fond of experimenting. We know of a man who decided to get his coal at another place; the result was a big bill for his house-heating—a good deal bigger than he had ever paid before for the same length of time.

We believe our coal is the most economical and satisfactory fuel in the city.

Cold weather will undoubtedly bring a rise in coal, so you had better stock up now for the winter. Send postal card, messenger, or telephone—we have both 'phones—and your order will be promptly filled.

One Girl Who Was Saved

Miss Frankie Hathaway, of 10th St., Holland, Mich., says: "I am 21 years old, at 17 I was pale and weak. By the time I was nineteen years old I was so weak I could not walk across the floor. I was terribly emaciated and my skin had lost all color. The doctor pronounced the disease anemic. Being advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, I bought a box, and before I had taken all of the pills found that they were doing me good. Appetite increased and the healthy color began to show in my cheeks and lips. I continued to use the pills until I found myself permanently cured. Since then I have had no return of my old trouble. I know that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People saved my life and I believe that no other medicine could have done it."—From Ottawa Times, Holland, Mich.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are never sold by the dozen or hundred, but always in packages. At all druggists, or direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N.Y., 50 cents per box, 6 boxes $2.50.

Notes and Comments.

Bickford's Passing Glances At Some of the Interesting Topics of the Day.

A Voice For Peace:—As the issue between England and the Transvaal approaches the brink of war it may be observed that English politics are divided into about the same parties that we find in this country. There is a war party and a peace party with a somewhat penumbral line of division between them in whose dusty atmosphere are not a few uncertain individuals whose minds are not made up which side to take. In a recent speech Sir Vernon Harcourt expressed pretty well the state of mind of the last named class: Great Britain cannot claim general sovereignty in the Transvaal when she has only partial suzerainty and President Kruger cannot claim for the Transvaal the position of an international sovereign state. Both sides therefore have made allegations which cannot be sustained by either. He said that he could not read the persistent attempts of the war press to aggravate the Transvaal situation without indignation and reprobation. He declared that there was no casus belli and expressed the hope that a shameful catastrophe might be avoided.

Sir William Harcourt is one of the foremost leaders of the Liberal party, now in opposition. Whether or not his speech is to be interpreted as designed to serve party ends every reader must judge or guess at for himself. The fact he states cannot be denied however. Great Britain has alternately claimed and rejected the sovereignty of both the Orange Free State and South African republic according as circumstances and her own interests demanded. She is now going to repeat war for a claim that she might once have asserted without dispute.

China's Protest:—The Chinese minister at Washington has made an emphatic protest against the order of

Gen. Otis excluding the Chinese from the Philippines. The protest will not be likely to make any difference. It would be more effective perhaps if sent to Gen. Otis himself as he appears to be running the Philippines according to his own will and judgment. It may have advanced materially within a short time, which accounts for the increase of the bids over the architect's estimates.

The Waldo county commissioners met at Belfast Tuesday to receive and open bids for the proposed addition to the court house. The estimate of the architect was $12,000 for the whole work. Two bids were received for about $16,000 each, and one for $19,000. The price for the material has advanced materially within a short time, which accounts for the increase of the bids over the architect's estimates.

The Tweelch-Champin Co. finished packing corn at Waldoboro, Tuesday. It will take twelve hands some thirty-five days to label the product. The company began canning peas, July 22. Besides corn and peas, they packed 15,000 cans of beans raised at Waldoboro and a quantity of succotash, a mixture of corn and beans, the beans coming from the west. They have employed a large number of operatives and this week will pay off the farmers who have raised corn in that and adjacent towns.

The Lincoln County News announces that George L. Welt, who is in Boston, has been appointed a special pension examiner. He will be in the office of the pension department at Washington. There he remained two years.

He then returned to Alfred and for about a year was assistant clerk of courts for York county. In 1887 he was nominated to fill a vacancy in the office, but was defeated by a small majority. Mr. Allen returned to Washington and for two years was employed in the postoffice of the House of Representatives, in the meantime keeping up his study of the law. In 1890 he returned once more to Alfred and was admitted to the bar. In 1870 he was again nominated and this time elected clerk of courts. In that office he served twelve years, retiring in 1882.

Between him and Mr. Reed warm friendship had existed since college days, and when Mr. Reed became chairman of the judicial committee in the 4th Congress he invited his old classmate to become clerk of the committee. Mr. Allen served in that capacity during the term, and was afterwards appointed a special pension examiner. When Mr. Reed was first elected Speaker in 1889, he invited his old friend to accept the position of secretary to the Speaker. The Democrats came into power in the 52d Congress, but when the Republicans resumed control in the 54th and Mr. Reed again became Speaker, Mr. Allen was recalled to his former place, which he held until the expiration of the late Congress.

Nor does this comprise his experience in public life. He has taken part in several campaigns, he was a member of the Republican State committee for three years, he served on the York county committee, he was a delegate to the Republican national convention at St. Louis in 1896 and a member of the committee on resolutions, and he was a representative in the Maine Legislature in 1887-7. With such varied experience in public affairs, and having a wide acquaintance with public men in all parts of the country, he should, and doubtless will, if elected, be a useful and valuable representative.

OFFICERS AND RESOLUTIONS.
Miss Farwell Re-elected Recording Secretary—White Ribbon Pledges.

At the state convention of the W. C. T. U. in Portland last week the following officers were elected: President—Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens; corresponding secretary—Miss Cornelia Dow; recording secretary—Miss Clara M. Farwell; assistant recording secretary—Miss Estelle M. Trainard; treasurer—Mrs. A. S. Johnston.

The resolutions, in brief are as follows: Pledging the W. C. T. U. to even bet-ter returns to the future than in the past for the prohibitory law. Recognizing as the standard of purity a white life for two and pledging the best efforts of the union to prevent the election of immoral men to office. The Governor to be asked to use his influence with judges not to show mercy when dealing with liquor sellers. Favors an extension of the system of education along temperance lines. Against tobacco. Church officials to be asked to discard it. Demands a reformatory for women. Asks for the curfew law. Commends the Good Will Farm and all similar institutions. Protests against the canteen and fairs of the command. Urges the army, William McKinley, to right a great wrong. Commends W. C. T. U. literature to all members. Returns thanks to railroads, papers, churches and the people of Portland generally. Favors universal peace.

The new U. S. torpedo boat T. A. M. Craven, was successfully launched at Bath Monday. The Craven was christened with American champagne by Miss Amy Craven of Philadelphia, grand-daughter of the late commander for whom the boat was named. The construction of the United States torpedo boat T. A. M. Craven was authorized by the act passed June 10, 1896, and her contract price for the hull and machinery, exclusive of ordnance and outfit was $194,000.

The former Spanish cruisers Isla de Austria, Isla de Cuba and Don Juan de Austria, disabled and set on fire by Admiral Dewey in the battle of Manila, but afterward raised and brought to Hongkong for repairs, will soon be ready for sea. The Isla de Luzon will have her sea trials next week. The expense of putting these vessels in condition to join the American fleet on the Asiatic station is estimated at $904,000, exclusive of the armament. There being no surplus of naval officers at Manila, it will be hard to get enough officers to put these ships in commission.

The Dahlgren, recently launched at Bath, will soon have her official trial.

NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES

E. O. Clark has sold his steam mill and building in the Clark shipyard Waldoboro, to Cobb, Butler & Co., shipbuilders, of this city. The building has been torn down and with the machinery will be shipped by water to Rockland.

WILL SUCCEED REED

Sketch of Candidate Allen, Who Goes To Congress From First District.

Hon. Amos Allen of Alfred has been nominated by the Republican district convention as candidate for Representative in Congress to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Hon. Thomas B. Reed. Since the nomination is considered equivalent to election we may look upon Mr. Allen as our future Congressman.

He was born in Waterboro 62 years ago, the date of his birth being March 7, 1837. His was the usual experience of the Maine farmer's son, hard but healthful toil and frugal but wholesome living. The farmer boy had a thirst for knowledge, and by hard work he fitted himself for college and in 1857 entered Bowdoin as a sophomore in the class of 1860. By teaching school in winter and by doing whatever he could find to do at other periods of vacation to earn money, he managed to make his way through, mainly by his own unaided efforts.

The class of 1860 is one of the famous Bowdoin classes. In its membership were such men as Thomas B. Reed, Joseph W. Symonds, William W. Thomas, Jr., Horace Burbank, John Marshall Brown and others who have reached prominence. After graduating, Mr. Allen began the study of law at Alfred, and during that period was employed for a time in clerical work in the offices of the register of deeds and clerk of courts. In 1864 he was appointed to a clerkship in the treasury department at Washington. There he remained two years.

He then returned to Alfred and for about a year was assistant clerk of courts for York county. In 1867 he was nominated to fill a vacancy in the office, but was defeated by a small majority. Mr. Allen returned to Washington and for two years was employed in the postoffice of the House of Representatives, in the meantime keeping up his study of the law. In 1890 he returned once more to Alfred and was admitted to the bar. In 1870 he was again nominated and this time elected clerk of courts. In that office he served twelve years, retiring in 1882.

Between him and Mr. Reed warm friendship had existed since college days, and when Mr. Reed became chairman of the judicial committee in the 4th Congress he invited his old classmate to become clerk of the committee. Mr. Allen served in that capacity during the term, and was afterwards appointed a special pension examiner. When Mr. Reed was first elected Speaker in 1889, he invited his old friend to accept the position of secretary to the Speaker. The Democrats came into power in the 52d Congress, but when the Republicans resumed control in the 54th and Mr. Reed again became Speaker, Mr. Allen was recalled to his former place, which he held until the expiration of the late Congress.

Nor does this comprise his experience in public life. He has taken part in several campaigns, he was a member of the Republican State committee for three years, he served on the York county committee, he was a delegate to the Republican national convention at St. Louis in 1896 and a member of the committee on resolutions, and he was a representative in the Maine Legislature in 1887-7. With such varied experience in public affairs, and having a wide acquaintance with public men in all parts of the country, he should, and doubtless will, if elected, be a useful and valuable representative.

LIGHTNING'S WORK IN MAINE.

Lightning has been unusually busy in Maine during the season just closed. So far as tabulated by the State insurance office the returns show it to be the worst season of which we have the records. A total of 239 buildings were struck, and the aggregate losses amount to $153,324. Forty-seven buildings were totally destroyed, 23 of these being barns, and only one being a dwelling. Of the buildings damaged but not destroyed, there were 239. Among these were six churches, four summer cottages, 91 dwelling houses, 29 barns, 10 sets of farm buildings, 19 dwelling houses with barn, and nine dwellings with stable.

THE HABIT OF PROFANITY.

The manner in which the Holy name of Jesus is profaned at the present time, is truly alarming. Young children and gray-haired men, and women even, are guilty of this irreverence toward sacred names. Rich men and poor men, men who say they have no faith, and men who have no faith, are all addicted to the impious vice of cursing.

Admiral Sampson's generous tribute to the victor of Manila Bay appears in the October Century, under the title of "Admiral Dewey as a National Hero." The name of Dewey is set beside those of Nelson and Farragut, each of these three admirals having rendered transcendent service to his country. His career has given a lofty impetus to the young," writes Admiral Sampson, "which will bear fruit in nobler aspiration. He has become one of the most valued possessions which a nation can have—a national hero."

Chats On Books.

There is a rumor that Cowper's house at Olney is to be presented by its owner to the Royal Historical Society.

Professor Benjamin I. Wheeler's study of Alexander the Great is to be published in book form by the Putnam. The same firm is also bringing out Major Hume's book on modern Spain.

Mr. Newbolt, the author of "Admirals All," has made a volume of selections from Froissart's chronicles, and it has been illustrated with facsimiles of descriptive drawings contemporary with the chronicles themselves.

According to the London Chronicle, "A Double Thread," by Ellen Thorneycroft Fowler, is the most successful novel of the summer in England. D. Appleton & Co. are the American publishers of Miss Fowler's novels.

In the book on "Jane Austen: Her Contemporaries and Herself," which Walter Pollock is about to give us, will be found the results of his examination of the few hitherto unearthed facts and documents relating to Miss Austen.

During the coming winter the Hon. Thomas B. Reed will be a frequent contributor to the Saturday Evening Post of Philadelphia. Mr. Reed's papers will, in the main, deal with national affairs, and will form a most important and interesting contribution to the history of American politics. Mr. Reed's first article, unlike those to follow, crosses the Atlantic for its subject and tells how the procedure of French law courts, and especially those involved in the Dreyfus case, impress an American lawyer.

The Eclectic for October opens with an important article on The Conference and Arbitration, from the Edinburgh Review, which bears evidences of having been written by one of the delegates to that memorable gathering. The literary interest of the number is well sustained by articles on Lamb and Keats, by Frederic Harrison, on Southey's Letters by Leslie Stephen, on Shakespeare in France by Sidney Lee, and on Puritanism in English literature by Edward Dowden. There is also an article on "Tolstoy," translated from the French of Edouard Rod, which has both a literary and a personal interest.

It was as far back as 1850 that the celebrated poem, "Nothing to Wear," made its appearance in Harper's Weekly and in a short time had become famous throughout the world, being reproduced in a multitude of forms in Great Britain, and also translated into French and German. In connection with the new edition of "Nothing to Wear," which the author, William Allen Butler, has published in response to many requests, and which contains all his poetical writings, there is a matter of interest concerning the first appearance of the famous poem which is worth while recalling. It came out in the sixth number of Harper's Weekly unsigned, and, as has been said, aroused a great deal of comment. The matter to which we refer is thus stated in the Weekly for August 8th, 1857:

"Some little stir has been created in literary circles by a claim set up by a young lady to the authorship of the now famous poem, 'Nothing to Wear.' The story which the lady's friends tell is, that Miss Peck tore her dress, and was led by that accident to a true and highly moral reflections which found vent in verse; that she carried the verse aforesaid about in her pocket, and, unfortunately, lost it on leaving the cars near Twenty-sixth Street, leading to the inference that Mr. Butler, from whom we obtained the poem, picked up the idea, the title, and some thirty of the identical lines, in or near the cars aforesaid, and appropriated them to his own use.

"It is curious," goes on the Weekly, "that though the success of the poem was immediate and it was a subject of general conversation in society in the early part of last February, the Rev. Isaac Peck and his friends should have waited till the end of July to put forward Miss Peck's claim to the authorship. This young lady is as commendable for authorship as for knowledge of the world. However, these little matters can do no doubt be explained; and as it is now well known that Shakespeare did not write his plays, but stole them from Bacon and Queen Elizabeth, and that Sir Walter Scott did not put his name to such novels as 'Ivanhoe' and 'Kenilworth,' which were written by Mrs. Captain Scott in Canada, so Mr. Butler's paternity of 'Nothing to Wear' will be disputed by the erudite. We see no reason for going behind the original manuscript which is now before us in Mr. Butler's handwriting, and to which, at our request, he added some twenty-five lines to fill out the page."

Mr. Butler lives at his beautiful country home, Round Oak, on the Hudson, and the dedication of the new edition of his poems reads, "To my wife this volume, published in the fiftieth year of our wedded life, is inscribed."

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

Here will be printed the old poems that have delighted the world for generations; and those of modern birth that seem worth preserving.

A Sonnet.
So soft your words were when you went away,
So slow your lips the while you said good-bye;
So deep the tranquil candor of your eye,
So calm the peace that like a halo lay
Around your head. Had you no wish to stay
A little longer with us? or a sigh,
The while the dead past and the grave drew Nigh?
To mourn the sweetness of your shortened day?
Had earth no joys wherewith to tempt you,
sweet?
Was life so heavy with its weight of woe
That, in the turmoil of the market street,
You should be weary ere the sun was low?
Was earth so sad it could not stay you, fast?
Or Heaven so fair that you were fain to go?

October brings along a chill greeting.

Ice formed Saturday night for the first time this season.

King Hiram Council has work in all three degrees next Friday night.

Mrs. Ella Lurvey is soon to move from South Main street into the Emery house on Snow's Hill.

C. E. Tuttle moves this week from his present quarters in Spear block into the James Donahue store, corner of Main and Myrtle streets.

The fact that there have been fewer loafers than usual in Supreme court this term is an eloquent reminder that the times must be some better.

Saturday and Sunday were apparently days of great thirst. Five drunks were before Judge Campbell, one of whom was sentenced to 30 days in jail.

Hix & Simmons have moved their carriage repository into the building on Limerock street, formerly occupied for the same purpose by the late J. F.
Fogler.

The Ladies' circle of the M. E.
church will meet with Mrs. William Thurston, Maverick street, Wednesday afternoon. This is the annual business meeting. Picnic supper.

The new uniforms and rifles for Co.
B have arrived and the guardsmen are ready for an active winter's campaign.

Interest just now centers on the election of a second lieutenant. It is understood the election will take place
early next week.

The convention of the Cigar Makers'
New England Blue Label League will be held in Fall River tomorrow. The Rockland district will probably not be represented, owing to the cost of sending delegates and the comparatively small membership in this section.

A. A. Blackings took the contract yesterday for the building of a summer cottage at Crescent Beach for Mrs.
C. E. Hilliard of New York. The cottage will be a story and one-half structure, measuring 16x22 feet. It is to be completed and ready for occupancy in June.

Cobb, Butler & Co. are soon to erect a steam mill in their yard. They have bought a building and apparatus which formerly stood in E. O. Clark's shipyard at Wadoboro and they will be shipped here in a few days. A steam mill will be a valuable addition to Cobb, Butler & Co.'s equipment.

Tickets for the Sembrich concert can be had of John W. Thomas, at The Courier-Gazette, at $2 each. These will remain on sale up to the leaving of the last train Wednesday, enabling all who may wish to go at the last moment to be accommodated. Mr. Thomas will give all information.

With the change of time on the Maine
Central comes a change in the flags for signals. While formerly the blue flag has been the five minute flag, a half white and green flag will be used. The blue flag will then be used for the inspector's flag. The red flag will then be the one for orders and the white for crossings. The green worn on an engine will be for a special following and the white on an engine will be for special trains. These are the same signals as are used by the Boston and Maine.

NOTICE!

To My PATRONS:—

For the next two weeks, during my absence, I have made arrangements with Mr. J. C. Hansen, a high class photo artist of Chicago, to take charge of my photograph business at 359 MAIN ST.,—sign of the Silver Hand. After notifying Mr. Hansen's work under the skylight and examining portraits of his making I think it is a mild assertion to say that he has no superior in the photo profession in the state. It is not too early to have Christmas photos taken, but in any case this is a rare opportunity that should not be lost. The price, as always with me, will be within reach of all.

Burrows' horses have arrived.

Alderman Hix is moving into the Alonso Snow house, Union street.

The auxiliary of the W. T. M. S. of the M. E. church will meet with Mrs.
Minnie Hodgdon, Thursday afternoon,
at 3 o'clock.

Charles H. Seavey, employed in the McNamara quarry, had one foot badly crushed by a falling drag Monday morning. Mr. Seavey was attended by Dr. Waagast.

Marcellus Maddox took a dose of ammonia, by mistake Sunday, and his throat was quite badly burned, but he was given prompt medical attention and is out of danger.

William H. Fiske has sold a lot of land at Holiday Beach to John H.
Zells of Rockland, who will begin at once the construction of a two-story cottage. The lot adjoins Judge Campbell's cottage.

E. N. Lord displayed some apples in The Courier-Gazette office yesterday that were "beauts." It only took 32 to make a half bushel. They weighed 14 ounces each and one we measured took 12 inches of twine one way and 13 inches the other way.

Fred M. Davies, the photographer, leaves tomorrow for a two weeks' vacation trip, during which time he will attend the New England photographic convention in Boston. During his absence the studio will be under the charge of J. C. Hansen of Chicago.

Since leaving the latter place Mr. Hansen has been employed by one of the leading photo establishments of New York city, as operator. Mr. Hansen has been spending his vacation with his uncle, Chas. A. Hendrickson, and the latter's Owl Head cottage, and by this means Mr. Davies is enabled to give his many customers the advantage of Mr. Hansen's wide experience and artistic skill.

Many people thought that the $5000
displayed in front of Farwell opera house by the theatrical company, Saturday, was a "fake," but they would have known better had they stood in consider the very strict laws governing the display and possession of counterfeit money. In the display was one $1000 bill, several $500 bills, several $100 bills, and a number of $20
gold pieces. Many mouths watered, and we fear that some people actually envied the company and their hoards.

A very conspicuous sign advertising
the Rogers-Griley recitals is hung from the Y. M. C. A. building on Lime-rock street. It was the handiwork of Secretary Brubaker.

Capt. P. P. Wood of Deer Isle was in the city Saturday on his way to New York, where he will be one of the favored guests aboard the Corsair, which will follow the Columbia in next week's races. Capt. Wood enjoys the distinction of being the man who selected the crews for the Defender and Columbia, and who is an especial favorite of Oliver Iselin, the managing owner of the Columbia. Capt. Wood was one of the select few to see the plans of the Columbia when they were first submitted and he has been in close touch with the progress on the Columbia
from the moment her keel was laid.

He had a special invitation to participate in the trial races, but was unable to do so on account of business. Capt.
Wood admits that the Shamrock is evidently a fine craft and will give us a close haul, but he has faith that the American boat sailed by her Deer Isle crew will keep the cup on this side of the water.

Van Veatchon Rogers, the harp soloist, and Charles T. Griley, the harp duo-list and impersonator, who make up the first number of the Y. M. C. A. entertainments are known among the musical and literary people of the country as artists of the highest repute. Both have obtained eminence in their respective lines, and their many seasons experience with the leading artists and combinations have fitted them to give an entertainment which is not only artistic, but at the same time highly entertaining. C. Wesley Emerson, L.
L. D., president of Emerson College of Oratory, gives this testimony: "Mr.
Charles T. Griley is a man of remarkable power as a public reader. All who have heard him wish to hear him again. He takes right hold of his audience and is an excellent reader of all forms of entertainment in literature and especially of comedy. His public readings are constantly sought for and his public success is great." The Boston Herald said of Mr. Rogers: "His tone is big and faultlessly pure and true, and he plays with fine taste at all times." The Rogers-Griley combination will appear in Farwell opera house Oct. 11 and Col. Bain, Dec. 8. Tickets for these entertainments are now on sale and will be exchanged for reserved seats tickets next Monday, Oct. 9.

OLD LADIES HOME.

The management of the Old Ladies Home are in want of furniture, bedding and other articles essential to the household. Any parties who have such materials and are willing to donate them to the cause will confer a favor
by notifying Miss Marcia Farwell.

It spit snow at frequent intervals yesterday—a gentle reminder of what we will get in a few weeks, but entirely too previous for all that.

There will probably be a rage for mounting birds and deer head now that the season is on. Niven C. Kellogg of Warren is a skillful taxidermist and is prepared to do any work of this sort at short notice.

The Maine State Association of Spiritualists has been holding its annual session in Waterville the past week,
among those present being Harrison T.
Barrett of Massachusetts, president of the National Association. A. H. Blackington was the delegate from Rockland. He had the honor of being elected president of the association and one of the trustees.

The crops have nearly all been harvested at the poor farm and the result is very satisfactory all around. Enough potatoes were raised to supply the farm for the coming year, and there will also be enough to supply the city store. Of pork there will be about two and one-half tons. At the present time there are but 15 inmates at the almshouse and a less number of people than usual are being assisted outside the almshouse. The cold weather of the last two days has brought on a demand for fuel, and Overseer Hall filled quite a number of orders of this sort yesterday.

Miss Helen A. Knowlton, who enjoys the reputation of being the only female lawyer in Maine, has opened a handsomely furnished office in Spof-ord block, occupying the quarters recently vacated by Mrs. Helen Clark Rhodes. The rooms have been newly painted and papered and Miss Knowlton has fitted them up in an extremely attractive manner. Miss Knowlton passed an unusually brilliant examination before the Knox bar about a year ago, and in addition to this she has had the advantage of actual experience in the offices of Judge Fogler and Hon. J.
E. Moore. She will combine stenography and typewriting with her legal duties. That Miss Knowlton will be able to do so in a new and novel vocation is the hearty wish of her many acquaintances.

While the sale of seats for Sembrich night has been large, and to insure an excursion of goodly portions out of Rockland, the number sold is not sufficient to guarantee the return train after the concert. It may be that additional seats will enable the train to run, but it can't now be promised. However, round trip tickets at $1.50 will be sold just the same, good from Rockland on any train Wednesday, and to return from Portland the next day. There will remain in Rockland a block of good $2 seats, to supply
all who may wish to go, up to the last train Wednesday. These tickets will be in the hands of John Thomas, who will have charge of the excursion and from whom all information can be obtained. Any who have not yet bought tickets but would like to do so and arrange for low priced accommodation in Portland Wednesday night should apply to Mr. Thomas at once.

THE MACHINE POET.

Many people who've heard of this city
for time,
When on pleasure or business this way—
Quite naturally spend a part of their time
In viewing large quarries which pay.
From chasms that yawn when you're crossing the bridge,
Has been hoisted the substance of wealth—
And it's queer to believe that with drill, blast and sledge, Men have worked to three hundred feet depth.
The railroad which runs from quarry
to shore,
Supplies all the rock the many kilns
burn;
Instead of men having to handle it
o'er,
With trestle-work handy—the car
does the turn.
Some other improvements are now the chief subject—
A substantial new steel bridge is first
on the list;
'Twill span a deep quarry—and safety's
the object.
The old worn-out structure will be gladly missed.

I have been a constant sufferer for

A MONSTER RESERVOIR.

Wyoming Plans a Gigantic

Scheme for Irrigation.

A GREAT ARTIFICIAL LAKE

Plans to Make the Arid Plains Blossom as the Rose With Fertility.

Hopes of Securing National Legislation to Help in the Enterprise—

Senators and Representatives Will be Called Upon to Urge the Scheme

in Congress.

Think of an artificial lake of water

high up on the crest of the continent,

7,200 feet above the flight of eagles,

where is to be stored for irrigation purposes during the dry months 40,817,-

405,000 cubic feet of water—a lake ten miles in length, three miles in width,

180 feet in maximum depth, 60 feet in mean depth, and covering 13,651 acres of land with water deep enough to float an ocean steamer—a deep, wide and long enough to irrigate 450,000 acres of desert land and thus make homes of plenty, where 2,812 farmers may each dwell upon 160 acres of perpetually watered land and never give a single thought to rain. This is the big reservoir that the people of the West propose to build on the Laramie

plains in Wyoming.

It is said to be the greatest irrigation

project ever evolved, and the arid West is united upon it. Western Senators and Representatives have been advised by their constituents to assemble at the next Congress fortified with enough

reasons to convince the Government that it is its duty to render substantial aid to the enterprise. The West will do its part in the way of State appropriations and private subscriptions.

In the building of this gigantic reservoir it is proposed to divert the surplus waters of the Big and Little Laramie rivers, and store them away in a natural depression known as the Big Hollow, the northeast end of which is five miles west of Laramie City. The dissection lies between the Big and Little Laramie rivers in the Laramie plains. The surrounding land slopes away from the rim of the basin in all directions, thus making it an admirable

place in which to store water for irrigation purposes. The basin itself has been formed by erosion and has no outlet. Nature has walled it around with rocks and no leak has been found large enough to interfere with the storing of such an amount of water.

In the flood season when these mountain streams are debouching their mad

waters upon the plains, thus dealing disaster to the hopes of the farmers and ranchmen, it is the intention to divert their entire surplus flow into the big basin and there confine it until the dry months. The ditch to supply the reservoir with the waters of the Big

Laramie River will be nearly four miles in length, and through it country for its construction. The ditch

from the Little Laramie will be much shorter.

In the dry season it is proposed to draw the water from the reservoir

through a tunnel at the northeast end of the basin and discharge it again into the Big Laramie City, thus keeping the river well filled with water during a season which has been usually almost dry. The outlet ditch is to be five miles long from the reservoir to the river. In its construction it will be necessary to construct three quarters of a mile, through which to divert the water into the river. It is the purpose of the West to make the Laramie reservoir a trial proposition at Washington, and should national legislation be gained in its favor then will the Government be told that it has a 3,000,000 square miles of land that might be similarly reclaimed and subdued.

The West at present has a number of

The "Ivory" is a favorite shaving soap because it makes a profuse rich lather, which softens the beard to be removed and leaves the skin unharmed.

It costs about one-fifth as much as the so-called shaving soaps and many who have used it for this purpose for years, will not have any other.

The vegetable oils of which Ivory Soap is made, fit it for many special uses for which other soaps are unsafe or unsatisfactory.

FREIGHT STATISTICS.

The Maine Central Railroad hauled 7496 tons of boots and shoes in the year ending June 30, 1899. This is about 800 tons in excess of the amount hauled on the previous year. In cotton the record of 1899 was 25,428 tons against 17,692 tons in 1898. Lumber, 722,752 tons against 692,935 tons in 1898; paper, 189,613 tons against 131,707 tons in 1898; sugar, 18,901 tons in 1899 against 12,941 tons in 1898; wood pulp, 222,095 in 1899 against 247,522 tons in 1898; iron, 42,755 in 1899 against 36,992 in 1898; flour, 112,293 against 73,708. The total haul of 1899 in tons was 3,217,809 in 1899 against 2,747,021 in 1898.

WILLEY HOUSE BURNED.

The historic Willey House in the White Mountains, the home of the Willey family, which were killed in the great slide from Mount Willey in 1826, was burned Saturday night. The fire is supposed to have been caused by a defective chimney.

IN SPORTING CIRCLES

The Latest About Polo, Baseball, Football and Other Sports.

Catcher McManus, who formerly played in the Knox County League, has made a hit in Washington according to Joe Campbell, who says in the Post: "McManus' quick, sharp, snap throws around the infield recall the prime days of the mighty throwing wif of Buck Ewing, the greatest server of the ball to the bases in the decade of the '80s. McManus is the equal of Marty Bergen and Crier at the throwing game." The Boston Globe says: "Catcher McManus is a neighbor of 'Johnny' O'Brien, the ex-senator and now with Pittsburgh, during the winter months, and they are personal acquaintances. McManus says that O'Brien can lick any player in the National league and that he can also whip his brother Dick."

Dick O'Brien is billed to go up against Paddy Fenton of Boston with whom he fought a 20-round draw at Bar Harbor last summer.

Joe Choyinski of California knocked out Jim Hall of Australia in the third round, Monday night at Louisville. The fight was lively enough while it lasted, with the honors possibly in Hall's favor during the first two rounds, but in the third Choyinski used his right and left effectively a number of times. When only a half minute of the third round remained Choyinski landed several rights and lefts in succession, sending Hall to the floor, where he remained until counted out and carried to his corner. There were cries of "fake" from all quarters of the hall. It was a right hook on the jaw that sent Hall down and from the spectators' standpoint was not delivered with sufficient force to put the Australian out, Choyinski, so Hall claims, landed a left below the belt and near the groin, which Hall declares took all the steam out of him.

Jeffries is training for his coming encounter with Tom Sharkey.

Manager Burnham was in Portland Tuesday trying to get a lease of Portland City hall. It is not his intention to place a team in the Maine League, but in the New England League, which with the exception of the National League, will be the strongest polo association in the country. Manchester, Salem, Clinton and Lawrence are all members of the New England League and if City hall can be secured Portland will be taken in to complete the circuit. Manager Burnham could not get a definite answer relative to the hall yesterday, but he probably will be informed within a day or two as to whether or not the city will lease it for polo.

THE BEEF MARKET.

It is reported that I. C. Libby of Waterville sold his ten pairs of oxen, fatted for Boston markets, for seven cents a pound, live weight. That means $250 a pair and upwards for steers weighing 3500 pounds and up. This shows the tendency of the beef market. No such price has been reached since the high prices of war times. And the outlook is for a continuation of good prices for good beef for the future. Now is the time to lay plans to raise some good steers.—Lewiston Journal.

MONTVILLE.

Poland's Mills.—Miss Effie Thompson returned from Palermo Saturday. Fred Poland and wife left for Boston Tuesday. Rev. T. R. Pentecost preached at the Vose schoolhouse Sunday and will be there again in two weeks. Ira Hall returned to his home in Somerville, Mass. Saturday. Mrs. Lizzie Newell and daughter left for their home Saturday. Miss Olive Marden of Palermo is visiting friends here. W. A. Hall and wife visited relatives in Burnham Sunday and Monday. Harry Foster is visiting at G. Thompson's. Willis Philbrick of China visited at W. M. Vose's recently. Frank McCarrison and wife of Burnham visited relatives in town last week. Quite a number from this place attended the County Grange at Centre Montville.

Brave Men Fall

Victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as women, and all feel the result in loss of appetite, poisons in the blood, lack of nervousness, headache and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel like that. Listen to J. W. Gardner, Haville, Ind. He says: "Electric Bile Beans are just the thing for a man when he is all run down, and don't care whether he lives or dies. It did more for me than any other medicine I ever took. I can now eat anything and have a new lease on life." At T. H. Donahue Drug Store, Rockland, G. I. Robinson Drug Co., Thomaston; Chandler & Rose, Camden. Every bottle guaranteed.

DID NOT WANT IT

The Quaker Member of the Chicago Board of Trade.

He was a Quaker of Quakers and held to the tradition of his faith and to all the forms of it excepting the matter of dress. And above all the variance he showed there was the fact that he would wear a plug hat. Of course it was not such a hat men in the vain world would wear in the habit of wearing, and then it was not the "broadbrim" of his fathers—not by any manner of means.

One day when he was going down La Salle street in the high wind and his head was not especially puffed up with his success in guessing the market that day, and away went his hat in a little cyclone and rolled in the most exasperating manner right at the edge of the curb. Quite a number of men hurried to stop it and some boys yelled and some women laughed, but the decorous owner of the headgear never changed his pace. He walked on as though he had never seen that particular hat and didn't care a cent what became of it.

Of course, some one brought to him. He looked at it and saw its awful condition. He looked straight into the eyes of the gentleman who had brought it to him and said: "No I thank thee; I don't want it." He went into the old Grand Pacific Hotel and sent a messenger boy home for another tie, for there was not a store in Chicago where a duplicate of his peculiar style could have been found.

SCHOOL ROOM FATIGUE

Too Long Hours of Study for the Youthful Mind.

Regarding the number of hours of mental application per day which may be safely expected of a pupil in school investigations have tended to show that there is a danger of requiring too many. When pupils return to school after a vacation without having recovered from the previous day's labors, it is evident that too heavy drafts are being made upon their nervous capital. It may be said in reply that many factors conspire to produce this depleted condition, as insufficient sleep, inadequate nutrition and outside duties; but the answer is that under such unfavorable circumstances less work may be demanded. As the curriculum is planned in many places, little in graded and ungraded schools, the pupil is expected to be employed in the school for five or six hours a day, no matter what may be his age, and to this work should be added studies at home for the older students.

Now, as Kneip has just observed, nature ordains that a young child should not give six hours' daily concentrated attention in the school-room, but, rather, she has taken pains to plant deeply within him a profound instinct to preserve his mental health by refusing to attend to hard work for such a long period. Consequently in such an educational regime, the mind of the pupil continually wanders from the duties in hand. The most serious aspect of this is apparent that when attention is constantly demanded and not given, or when a pupil is pretending or attempting to keep his thoughts turned in a given direction, yet allows them to drift aimlessly because he is practically unable to control them, he is acquiring an unfortunate habit of mental dissipation.—Popular Science Monthly.

Drum Horses.

In the army of Great Britain the bands of cavalry are mounted, and the honorary position in these musical avocations is that of the leader of the kettledrums. The horse selected for this high position is often plebeian, but this particular coloring is not essential to the office; the animal may be pure white. At any rate his appearance must be consistent with the slow pace he is in the band. His education is severe and persistent, bringing him at last up to that point where his pride and intelligence makes him a dignified and graceful bearer of the handsome trappings that surround his high calling. His nerves are severely tried by the booming of the enormous drums he is destined to bear, but in time he becomes as indifferent to the noise as do his brothers to the snoring snuff. In the parade his rider has his hands full in the use of the sticks. He controls the steed by the use of the reins which are fastened to the stirrup strap near the foot.

A Great Railway Enterprise.

Albert L. Johnson, formerly head of the Nassau Street Railway, Brooklyn, N. Y., has laid plans to introduce the American trolley car in London. About October 1 he will apply for a franchise for a trolley road from London to Brighton. The distance is forty-five miles, all over a private right of way, and the fare will be sixpence. Mr. Johnson says the cars will not exceed one and one-half feet to the mile, and the rails will be so heavy that he hopes the cars will average a mile a minute, except in the city limits. For a capital, he says, is backing the scheme.

CAMDEN.

Although the past week has witnessed the departure of so many people for their homes in all parts of the country, particularly the Western states, from which an immense number of summer tourists come to Camden, yet there are many left at the cottages and the town does not look deserted by any means. The burrs on the chestnut trees have burst telling their story of the approach of autumn, and children are beginning to look for the falling of the acorns. The bright cushions and hammocks that have figured so prominently in the summer season, so much in vogue this season, have been taken indoors, but we have our mental photograph of the charming young women who have entertained there and of how bewitching some young women looked serving tea, and how weighted with importance seemed her question, "Lemon or sugar?" and how we have caught the gleam of her eyes as she preferred sugar. Bright are these pictures of summer that we shall take away and happy the memory of events they will recall. The perfume of joss will bring back to us the summer evenings when their tiny lights like fire-disks pierced the darkness. The twang of the banjo, the melody of a guitar, the rippling arpeggio of a zither, these will bring back the music that made of happy evenings on river and shore and added so much to the many pleasures of this summer.

No one appears to expect much in the way of entertainment now, but like the final days before Lent, gaiety has waxed fast and furious at Camden for the past week. Afternoon teas, receptions and whist parties come as the very climax to a season's pleasures.

Mrs. Henry L. Alden gave an afternoon whist on Monday. The Misses Adams were "at home" on Thursday, Mrs. F. N. Wheeler gave an evening whist on Friday, and on Saturday Miss Jessica Lewis received her friends at her charming little studio at the Ocean House. Tea was served during the afternoon, and those present felt very fortunate in being able to see so many choice bits of water colors in still life, and landscape. Miss Lewis was in Mystic, Conn. in the early spring, for several weeks, and her work was of critical eye of Dodge MacKnight, the well known American artist, is fine. Miss Lewis certainly has a bright future before her. The invited guests were Mrs. J. E. Wardwell, Mrs. Harris from "Norumbega," Mrs. Waldron and Miss Waldron from "Kenwood," Mrs. J. J. Herrick from "Roseland," Mrs. Reuben Leonard from "land of Seacroft," Mrs. B. C. Adams, the Misses Adams, Mrs. Henry L. Alden, Mrs. Wm. G. Alden, Mrs. F. N. Wheeler, Mrs. Reuben Robinson, Mrs. E. E. THE FIELD OF SPORTS

Now Comes the Month of Football—Still Agitating the Polo Question.

The Lewiston Journal of Saturday devoted several pages to an interesting summary of the football outlook in Maine. Among the fine half-tone portraits was one of Alan L. Bird of Rockland, who will captain the University of Maine team. The Journal says: "The foot ball team of the University of Maine is an uncertain quantity this year. The term at the university opened Wednesday, and the first practice was held Thursday afternoon under the direction of Captain Bird. It consisted of passing and falling on the ball and a short run. The same program was carried out Friday. The make up of the team has hardly been considered, and it is not possible to forecast the positions of the players. Among the old players out are Captain A. L. Bird of Rockland, Me. Captain Bird is a man who believes in the efficacy of hard work and that it is pleasant to tell at the end of a season what a team has done than to prophesy at the beginning what it is to do. Last year he played left guard, and had no superior in the state in that position. He has been a member of the team since his freshman year, and is serving his second year as captain, a tribute to his popularity as well as to the confidence of the men in his ability in the conduct of the team last season."

Manager Burnham has obtained a lease of City hall, Portland, for polo this winter, and his team has been admitted to the New England League in place of Lowell.

Now that Portland is going into the New England Polo League it is about as good as settled that there will be no Maine League, and Rockland will see no polo at all unless there is amateur polo. The Courier-Gazette hears it suggested was an interesting and perhaps profitable plan, that five teams be organized, one each by the proprietors of the Simmons, Whitney, Haskell, May and Crockett fruit and confectionery stores, and that a regular league with a regular schedule be formed. Even if only three of these firms materialize with a team the

E. S. Stearns of Camden, proprietor of Sagamore Farm, had a tent where he gave a practical illustration of the merits of the separator and other dairy machines for which he is agent.

The pulling and hauling of the horses and cattle took place Friday and the horse races were held Thursday and Friday, both these attractions being witnessed by hundreds of interested people.

The balloon ascension, however, interested the largest number of people. Prof. Kabrich of Boston made ascensions Thursday and Friday. The Professor is certainly an artist. He superintended all the preparations himself. He went about the overseeing the inflation of the balloon with the utmost unconcern. Slowly the huge airship filled and tugged at its moorings. When the word was given, the balloon shot into the air with tremendous speed with Prof. Kabrich hanging on to a trapeze. With a coolness and nerve that was remarkable this fearless man went through all the evolutions of a circus trapeze performer. He even hung by his toes when at least a mile above the earth. Suddenly the Professor pulled a string and the balloon shot up and the parachute shot down. The fall was in Carl Thurston's corn field about a mile away from the fair grounds. The balloon was quickly recovered. When the man and the parachute leave for the journey to the earth a weight on the top of the balloon topples it over and the hot air escapes and the balloon collapses. To the man who makes a business of parachute dropping, the sense of fear and danger are entirely gone, and he is as much at home on his little perch a mile above the ground as the ordinary man is in his parlor at home. Prof. Kabrich has been parachuting for twelve years and has not yet met with a serious accident. He would like to give it up, for he realizes he carries his life in the hollow of his hand, but a fascination is too strong to resist. A strong wind was blowing Friday but Prof. Kabrich went up just the same.

The horse racing was good although there were but few starters. In the three minute class four heats were trotted. Dandy pushed Kirt hard and the heats were evenly divided but Kirt is the fastest horse and a consultation of the owners made the fifth heat unnecessary. Summary:

3 MINUTE CLASS, TROT AND PACE, $40.
Kirt, b. g., L. F. Nash, Belfast, 1:21.1
Dandy, b. m., W. S. Garret, Rockville, 1:21.2
Halle, b. m., F. A. Shattuck, Rockville, 1:21.3
Time, 2:35.4, 2:35.4, 2:35.4, 2:35.4.

In the 2:30 class it was necessary to run the whole five heats. Dew Drop was undoubtedly the best horse in the bunch but Lady Florence and Mackebunch made Dew Drop hustle. The summary was as follows:

2:30 CLASS, PACE, $100.
Dew Drop, H. L. Turner, Washington, 1:21.2
Lady Florence, Geo. Renner, Friendship, 1:21.2
Mackebunch, L. F. Nash, Belfast, 1:21.3
Troublesome, C. A. G. Simmons, Union, 1:21.3
Black R., F. A. Renner, Friendship, 1:21.3
Dolly, W. H. McEllean, Belfast, 1:21.4
Time, 2:35.1, 2:35.1, 2:35.1, 2:35.1, 2:35.1.

The "free for all" was the best race held on the Union track for years. Camden Boy won in three straight heats but Tom Drew pushed him so hard he had to break the track record twice out of the three heats. In the first heat only those who were directly in front of the wire could tell who won but Camden Boy crossed first by a nose. There wasn't a break in any of the heats by either horse and the large crowd went wild over the fine performance. The summary:

FREE FOR ALL.
Camden Boy, H. L. Turner, Washington, 1:11.1
Tom Drew, N. C. Crawford, Warrenton, 1:11.2
C. G. Simmons, Union, 1:11.3
Lady Florence, Geo. Renner, Friendship, 1:11.4
Time, 2:26, 2:25, 2:25.

F. A. Creighton of Warren won the bicycle race, with Grinnell, Union, second and Davis, Union, third. The dashes were very close between Creighton and Grinnell.

The Granges made splendid exhibits of flowers, dairy products and household manufacture.

The success of the fair is due largely to the energetic work of Secretary George C. Hawes, President E. E. Thurston, Vice President J. W. Dunbar, Treasurer F. A. Alden, General Agent E. E. Boves, Trustees E. E. Thurston, S. N. Simmons, S. E. Bartlett, D. S. Bartlett, J. W. Dunbar, Town Agents H. L. Robbins of Union, H. C. Pease of Appleton, J. F. Bryant of Washington, M. F. Taylor of Hope and G. D. Gould of Warren.

Sch. James R. Talbot, Averill, arrived from Bath, Friday.

Sch. Louisa Francis arrived from Boston, Friday.

Sch. Luther T. Garretson, Green, loaded with plaster from Hillsboro for Baltimore, was in the harbor and sailed Sunday.

North Knox Fair.

List of Attractions As Well As Attendance Far In Excess of Any Previous Year.

From the balloon ascension—the leading attraction—down to the 80 yard race for boys under ten years of age the 31st annual fair of the North Knox Agricultural and Horticultural Society will be handed down to future generations as the most successful in every particular ever held by the society.

On Tuesday with the heavens overcast with heavy clouds, which were filled with moisture and which opened at frequent intervals filling the atmosphere with rain, the conditions were most unfavorable. Nothing was done Tuesday and the fair was put ahead one day. It is naturally expected that postponements are costly from a financial standpoint as it is almost impossible to let the general public know. Consequently there was no recorded ones Tuesday night and the most optimistic was willing to prophesy only a fair attendance.

During the night there came a heavy shower and for a while the rain fell in torrents. This was surely the clearing away shower for in the morning the sky was a beautiful blue and cloudless and the atmosphere was permeated with warm rays of silvery sunbeams. There was a larger attendance on Wednesday than usual for the opening day, and although simply a day of preparation yet all found something entertaining and interesting.

The exhibitors were very busy Wednesday and all day long the committees were hard worked placing the exhibits in their proper places. The stream was continued all day Thursday and when the last entry was recorded there was also recorded the largest number of entries in the history of the organization.

This year the society adopted a more "open door" policy which a goodly sum in consequence of from fair of every description. The man with a colt that was half cow was there—and "you wouldn't pay your money until you come out gentlemen." Also the champion lady boxer and champion in the world, who sang ballads from a stand attired in a short skirt and stocky calves. There was the man with a two headed pig (two halves very cleverly joined together) and a lobster over four feet long—just as represented on the canvas gentlemen—and they were. The blind man who played the harmonica and who was led around by his brother whose chief characteristic was a large and very red nose and who played very well on the banjo. Then there was the man who took photographs and made photographic buttons while you waited, and the man to try the photograph man, the dozen and one booths where liquid refreshments, cabbage cigars and five-year-old peanuts were sold, not mentioning John Paladino and the other "feller" who gave you a chance to get a cane with "four rings for five cents," and Charlie Prescott with "every time you hit a nigger you get a cigar gentlemen." The wheel of fortune was there as well as other games of chance.

Take it all in all and this was the biggest, the greatest, the most stupendous effort ever made by the North Knox society. There was a liberal expenditure of money, and there was a spirit of "the people say that we have been too strict and have run our affairs too much like a Sunday school picnic so this year we will give them what they want and watch the result." The

Our English Cousins

Are peculiar in many ways. They like to drink water without ice.

They would rather walk upstairs than take an elevator.

They use ordinary portable bath tubs in place of stationary porcelain or metal ones such as we have.

What seems to us the funniest thing of all is that they absolutely prefer chicory in their coffee.

It is easy enough for any one to get adulterated coffee in this country. But the good housewife watches carefully that she is not thus imposed upon.

Those who have learned by experience and wish to be absolutely sure that they are getting pure coffee and the best coffee, without a grain of adulteration, ask for and insist upon having Chase & Sanborn's Coffee.

There is none better on the market. Every bean has been carefully selected from plantations, famous for their coffee crops. The fact that these coffees bear the seal of Chase & Sanborn is in itself a sufficient guarantee that they are full weight and in every way perfect.

Seal Brand Coffee comes in one and two-pound tin cans, and their other high grades in richly colored parchment-lined imported bags.

experiment was productive of the very best results and notwithstanding the putting ahead of a day the attendance on all three days was far ahead of anything in the past. All Knox county helped swell the multitude. Rockland people in particular being very noticeable, while a number of the swell turns of some of Camden's summer residents attracted the eyes of many.

There was plenty of room on the spacious grounds, each attraction having its quota of admirers. The rain of Tuesday was a blessing rather than otherwise as it put the track in first condition and only on Friday afternoon was the dust stirred up much.

On the first floor of the exhibition building were the household manufactures, miscellaneous articles, the Grange exhibits and the flowers. We noted H. H. & Co. had their usual corner in which they displayed a large assortment of jackets and other garments which catch the fancy of the women folks.

The Maine Music Co., represented by John E. Leach, had considerable floor space and this part of the hall was always crowded. Miss Grace Emery, pianist, Prof. Clark, violinist and W. M. Tapley, soloist, entertained all in the hall from morning to night, with short breathing spells.

On this floor were many evidences of woman's work—beautiful hemstitching, embroidery, crochet work, sofa pillows, rag carpets, crazy quilts, knitting and the like, nice house plants, very tempting looking preserves, jellies and the products of the dairy.

One particular quilt attracted more than passing attention. It was a quilt containing 3,295 pieces, made by Mrs. Sarah Wentworth of Hope more than 51 years ago. "Aunt Sally" the quilt is handed down from one generation to another. May it's warmth never grow cold or it's beauty fade.

Mrs. W. E. Haskell and Mrs. E. A. Matthews constituted the committee of arrangements of domestic manufacture.

Upstairs were the preserves, pickles, jellies, domestic dairy, field crops, roots and vegetables, fruit and farm crops.

The poultry exhibit was the very best ever seen at a North Knox fair and the rivalry for first honors was keen, if good natured. The committee in deciding had to use fine discretionary powers.

The sheep, swine and horse exhibit was about the same as in past years. The exhibits and exhibitors were as follows:

Mrs. M. S. Gleason of Union, ball hoppers.

Mrs. Sarah McPeters of Union, patch quilt.

W. C. Cummings of Union, German millet.

Ann B. Clarry of Union, woolen mitts.

W. W. Marr of Union, trace sweet corn, trace field corn, bushel turnips, bushel carrots, collection of onions, apples.

Amie Marr of Union, picture throw, table cover.

Mrs. W. W. Marr of Union, cut flowers.

E. H. Clarry of Union, 5 Oxford sheep, 6 Oxford lambs, 12 turkeys, trace pop corn.

Mrs. A. H. Hills of Warren, collection of apples.

Elias Thompson of Appleton, family horse.

E. E. Bowes of Union, yearling steers, yearling Oxford buck grade, yearling matched steers, 6 Oxford sheep.

W. E. Hill of Union, 6 pumpkins, apples, trace field corn.

Mrs. W. E. Hill of Union, 3 pair woolen hose, 5 pairs woolen mitts.

Amner Dunton of Hope, matched steers.

Grace Simmons of Union, Indian fan.

Amos Harding of Union, trio barred Plymouth Rocks and chicks.

H. A. Hawes of Union, year Holstein bull, Holstein calf, 2 year 2 years Holstein heifers, three one year old Holstein calves, two Shropshire lambs, Jersey cow, six Shropshire lambs, three White Plymouth Rocks, pen of White Leghorns, half bushel yellow-eyed beans, trace field corn, trace sweet corn, bushel Early Rose potatoes, bushel Green Mountain potatoes, bushel Ruta Baga turnips, bushel table beets, 6 pumpkins, 6 squash, 6 cabbage, pears, Holstein cow.

Mrs. H. A. Hawes of Union, hand worked skirt, picture, cucumber pickles, pear pickles, gooseberry, pear, cherry, plum and grape preserves, corn.

Martha M. Hill of Union, chair tidy, Lizzie G. Hill of Union, handkerchief case.

Mrs. Lizzie R. Hawes of Union, two sofa pillows, strawberry, raspberry and grape preserves, grape jelly.

Carrie B. Gleason of Union, sofa pillow.

Mrs. J. W. Saywood of Union, oil painting.

Southern melon but we were told that they were not bad eating.

This has been a great season for potatoes. No rot appeared and if any fault could be found it would be with the size of the spuds for they are unusually large this season. One is more than a meal for a person but are very mealy when cooked. W. Emerson of Stry and this was but that weighed 20 ounces, but we judged there were a few from the Knox county farms that weighed more.

Notwithstanding the fact that Rockland has been very poorly supplied this season the green corn crop has been unusually good and of most excellent quality. If we believe the statement of one of our well known farmers. The canning factory at Yaloboro has had most of the crop, Knox county contributing about 500,000 cans, a large part of it being Union and Washington corn.

Pears were conspicuous by their absence, this being an off year for this luscious fruit.

We also missed W. A. Luce's collection of grapes and plums. Mr. Luce has leased his farm and is now preaching good Methodist doctrine. Those who know Mr. Luce say that he will be as successful in his new vocation as he was in his old.

In the cattle department on the grounds were the town teams, beef cattle, steers, bulls, matched oxen and steers, cows and heifers, herds of cattle, sheep, swine, poultry, horses, colts. This display was the best in numbers seen for years. The quality of the cattle is not as good this year as last owing to the long dry spell. Cattle need plenty of water but for three weeks a drink a day had to suffice for some of them. Then the grass was short and dry and there was but little to feed upon. The cattle that was fed looked fine. Notwithstanding all this the display was a most creditable one and it was the unanimous verdict of those who knew that it was ahead of either the Bangor or Lewiston fairs. A bull that caught the eye of all was Pedro Pierrot, owned by John Gurney of Appleton. Pedro's registered number is 4830. His sire was Harry Pierrot and his dam Sydney May, Jr. He was dropped May 9, 1895 and was bred by Charles L. Perley of Cross Hill, Me. His color is solid black and he has a black tongue and switch.

The sheep showed with commendable pride a yearling Hereford bull that girthed six feet. A like statement might be said of a yearling Hereford bull owned by Willard Sherman. Both bulls are perfect in color with finely distinct lines.

Viranus Pease had a pair of beef oxen that girthed 7 feet 8 inches, and 7 feet 10 inches. And the same piece of chain just went around a yoke of oxen owned by Charles Gleason.

Fred L. Burgess, C. F. Burgess, C. W. Thurston and H. B. Bowes, all of Union, exhibited fine herds of cattle.

The poultry exhibit was the very best ever seen at a North Knox fair and the rivalry for first honors was keen, if good natured. The committee in deciding had to use fine discretionary powers.

For Colds and coughs and all lung troubles

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

is the standard remedy. It is now put up in half-size bottles.

HALF SIZE—HALF PRICE.

THE very word "operation" strikes terror to a woman's soul.

Nearly always these operations become necessary through neglect.

If the menses are very painful, or too frequent and excessive, get the right advice at once and stop taking chances. It will cost you nothing for advice if you write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for it, and if you let the trouble run along it will surely cost you a great deal of pain and may mean an operation.

MISS SARAH J. GRAHAM, Sheridanville, Pa., writes: "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I have suffered for several years with female troubles and doctored until I was discouraged. I felt wretched and tired of living. I had disease of kidneys, bladder trouble, dropsy and bloating, had womb trouble and a large tumor had formed; in fact all my organs were out of fix.

"Seeing a woman's letter praising your remedies, I wrote to her and she begged me to try it, telling me all that it had done for her. I bought six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now cannot express my gratitude to you. The tumor began to come away in pieces and I got better all the time. I believe now that I am entirely cured.

"My doctors could not believe it at first, as they all had told me that my case was a hopeless one, and no human power could do me any good. They were astounded. If I can say anything that can help other women, I shall be glad to."

It is not safe to wait until the last moment. Head off trouble. Don't be satisfied without Mrs. Pinkham's advice.

Warren Gardner of Rockland, horses, sweepstakes.

Ben Bisbee of Rockland, horses for sweepstakes.

Ed Jacobs of Appleton, pair horses, sweepstakes, pair matched horses of first class.

Ex-Congressman Jerry Simpson was booed off the platform in Kansas the other night while addressing a G. A. R. reunion. Mr. Simpson said: "I glory in the spunk of Aguinaldo's men. They are simply fighting to regain the land the Catholics took from them. A local paper has asked: 'Who is John Brown's soul marching with? Otis or Aguinaldo?' I believe John Brown's soul is marching with Aguinaldo." Mr. Simpson said in substance that he would rather be with Aguinaldo than with Gen. Otis.

An old soldier in the audience arose and said that the speech was drifting too much into politics. This was applauded and greeted with cries of "throw him out," and "kick him off the platform." Men and women arose and hissed and the men kept crying "put him out."

Simpson appealed to the crowd to sit down. "I am coming to my peroration," he said, although he had only spoken fifteen minutes. Cries came: "Take your peroration to Aguinaldo." Simpson attempted to get on, but no one could hear him. The band struck up "The Star Spangled Banner," and Mr. Simpson left the platform. His retirement was greeted with prolonged cheers.

A Washington dispatch to the Boston Herald says: The administration's expectation that Vice-President Hobart will not be re-nominated is illustrated in a report from Chattanooga, the home of Pension Commissioner H. Clay Evans of the progress of a movement to make Mr. Evans the candidate of the South for the second place on the ticket next year.

This movement would never have been started if Mr. Hobart had not been considered as out of the race. The Young Men's Republican Club of Chattanooga is managing the movement, and is writing to the Republican clubs all over the country, making special efforts in the South to secure instructed delegates for Mr. Evans.

The club claims to have conciliated his enemies so as to secure a solid Tennessee delegation for McKinley and Evans, and that it will get all the southern states to give similar instructions. It claims that Senator Hanna has advised Republicans who have opposed Mr. Evans to cease doing so, and even goes to the length of asserting that Mr. Evans has the support of the administration in his aspirations for the vice-presidency.

Charles J. Allison, a cousin of President McKinley, recently appointed United States circuit clerk at Birmingham, Ala., who has hitherto opposed Mr. Evans, is represented as working with National Committeeman Youngblood of Alabama for the nomination of Mr. Evans.

Apparently the pension commission's friends believe that he is stronger now than he was in 1896, when he would probably have been nominated with McKinley if the delegates in the national convention had been allowed to act without advice from Mr. Hanna. They do not seem to think that the opposition stirred up by certain pension attorneys among a certain element of the G. A. R. will hurt Mr. Evans with the "old soldier vote," but, on the contrary, believe that whatever he might lose on that account would be more than counterbalanced by what he would gain.

It cannot be learned here, however, that Mr. Evans is to be the administration candidate, although this may come about in the end. At present it seems certain that Governor Roosevelt is the choice of President McKinley for vice-president next year, upon the assumption that Mr. Hobart is not to be a candidate, and administration men are saying that they have information from New York which indicates to them that Governor Roosevelt's unwillingness to take the second place on the ticket can be overcome.

It is stated that no New England man can be considered for the second place on the ticket because a majority of the national convention would want to go that far East for a candidate.

Goebel, the Democratic candidate for governor of Kentucky, is just now giving a rare exhibition of personal courage. His friends heard and assured him that a plot had been formed to kill him while he was stumping in the remote mountain districts. He went straight on with his plans and is now driving about over these wild mountain roads, accompanied by a few friends and the newspaper men who have been sent with him, in the expectation that there will be a tragedy of some sort. His speeches reek with gall. Wherever he stops his hoarse voice is lifted up to hurl taunts and epithets at his enemies.

SATISFY YOUR APPETITE.

When going on your picnics or sailing on the bay, Your appetite no doubt increase in an uncertain way.

The inner man must be supplied or pleasure's dull and dreary.

And if you have poor food to eat it makes you very weary.

But if you go before you start to C. E. Rising's store, And buy some pastry and fresh bread you need not worry more;

All kinds of sandwiches he makes according to your order, Which can't be beat by any man on old Maine's rocky border.

If you have lived about these shores for any length of time, You've eaten New Domestic Bread eight cases out of nine;

For it's the leader in the trade and sells like hot cakes, too.

To beat it just one whit is hard for anyone to do.

At shore resorts, hotels and stores, you'll find this brand of bread;

No more the housewife's cook until with heat she's nearly dead.

But buys from C. E. Rising's carts, which carry all around.

All establish that are
